Mr. Gladstone celebrated his eighty-fifth birthdry to-day. He received an immense number of cong atulations and presents from all parts of the world. Several deputations also waited upon him. Amongst the latter were representatives of the Armenian community in England, who wished to mark the occasion by presenting a hardsome chalice to Hawarden Church. Mr. Gladstone, in receiving the deputation, referred to the reports which have been published regarding the atrocities committed by Turkish soldiers in Armenia. The Right Hon. gentleman said the details given of the outrages were so shocking that he declined to accept the truth of all the statements made, until the same were verified but if proved to be correct by the Commission of Enquiry, the time had come for outraged humanity to raise a veneral shout of execuation against a Government which would countenance outrages so disgracing to Mahommedan civiliza(ppiause.) From the report which has been read you can enally gather that the past year has been a very trying and anxious one for those connected with this College, and one which has been full of difficulties. The studies, which were for some time greatly interfered with, were at last altogether building lot occupied apparently as permanent interrupted, and although, in the re-ults of the individual examination, we come across such remarks as these, " grammar makes but a poor show," "geography, poor all," and that chemistry had to be altogether omitted from the examination, yet the report shows that on the whole very good results have been obtained, steady progress has been made, and I think we can congratulate all the masters upon the results of their labours -(applause)-for I am quite sure they have spared no pains to overcome the many difficulties they have encountered. I am quite sure we also join in Dr. Wright's expression of thankfulness as to the good health he is able to report concerning them. I am afraid, as member of the Retrenchment Committee, I cannot congratulate the establishment of its increased cost. The net cost to the Government this year is $28,500. Now this is too much. In the Retrenchment Committee we thought $27,500 was too big a bill, and we recommended that some steps should be taken to reduce it. I am glad to say some efforts are being made to carry into effect one of the recommendations of that Committee and that was that this establishment should be so modified that its advantages could be availed of by Europeans who could not afford to send their children home. I think that everything should be done to remove the objections of European parents, for if such a large sum as this is to be spent on the College, I think Hongkong and the English residents should derive more benefit from it than they do. With respect to drill, as I said yesterday, I have noticed in some English papers that more importance is paid to this sub ject in England now. It has been said, although at first it may appear curious, that teaching boys dellling, making them hold up their heads and walk exect, has a good effect on their moral character. It seems to improve them, and I trust you boys, when you leave this College, will, by your future conduct in life, ever be able to hold up your heads among your fellowmen; look evers man straight in the face. I have to congratulate the boys to whom I have just delivered prizes, and especially those who have su cessfully passed it with their tenants. the Local Oxford Examinations. All those who have not been so successful I would ask to renew their efforts next year and see if they cannot do better. (sppisuse). I would ask all of you seriously to consider the advantages which this is taken. institution offers to you. I think I may safely say that more attention is paid to you and you are far better taught and you have greater educational advantages than I enjoyed forty years ago. These entail a duty on you, Asil have sold, by the liberality of the Government, to make some return for all the labour and care and attention which is being bestowed upon you by your masters. It is a hard and very often a thankless task, that of a schoolmaster, and . think that sometimes in after life, when we look back upon our schooldays, we feel sorry for all the trouble we gave them and the tricks we played upon them, and one way to repay them for all their trouble is to make a good use of what they have taught us. (applause). I was very sorry to see from one of the former reports of the Head Master that few of the Chinese boys here come seeking any real advantage from education in the way of enlargement of their ideas or from the love of education or knowledge; but that you set a low value upon your education and have come here merely for the monetary advantage that can be obtained heren'ter from your know. ledge of English and other subjects. This fact has been one of the main reasons why many in this colony object to the sum spent on this Inetitution. I have to ask you to do all in your power to remove that impression, and to show by your conduct that you value rightly and are grateful for what you have learned here. You can do that in many ways. Many of you belong to China You will return there. Remember what you have learned here. Think of all you have learned from the wonderful discoveries of Western science. Think first of all of what untold suffering, both of Chinese men and Chinese women, could be avoided if they would call for and welcome Western medical science and skill. JARDINES' SQUATTERS NUISANCE, The following letter from Messrs. Jardine, Matheson & Co. was read :--

Hongkong, 5th January, 1895. The Secretary of the Sanitary Board.

Sir,-Referring to your favour of 9th October, we beg to inform you that, in compliance with the notice then served upon us, the squatters and their dwellings on Inland Lot 1,018 have now been removed, which, we understand, is all the Saultary Board required. We shall be glad to know that the Board are bearing in mind our request that an ilcences should be renewed for We are, Sir.

Your obedient servants, Per pro. JARDINF, MATHESON & Co., A. W. Dickson,

The following minutes were appended :--Mr. H. McCallum-The first point raised by this letter is, has the notice which was served been fully complied with? I think not; but, as the divison between Inland Lots 1,018 and 1,019 is not clearly defined on the ground. I am not absolutely certain. It seems to me that there are still a few insanitary dwellings on this iwellings. These dwellings certainly do not comply with the provisions of the Building Ordinance, nor do they seem to me to be in accordance with the terms of Crown lease, which was granted in 1886, when a frm lot was converted into a bullding lot. The so-called squatters are in occupation leasehold land and presumably are the tenants of the Crown lessee. The next point for consideration is the puerile assertion that the licensing of cities, in which to keep swine, was the primary cause of the insanitary condition of the wretched dwellings which existed on this lot. To say that a sty, which compiles with the requirements of the by-laws regulating the keeping of swine. Is the cause of the insanitary condition of a dwelling separated from it by at least six feet, is simply fudicious and unworthy of attention. and my only reason for referring to it is on account of the very prominent manner in which it is put forward by the writer of this letter. When an application is made for a licence to keep swice the Board's officers see that the sty sought to be licensed is in accordance with the requirements of the by-laws, and if the sty is on leasehold land, the application is laid before the Board; but If the sty is on Crown land the application goes to the Director of Public Works for approval of site. I do not expect the Board's officers can be expected to see that the tenants of leaseholders are fulfilling the terms of their agreements with their landlords, yet this is practically what is now asked for.

Mr. J. J. Francis-I hope these pipers and especially Mr. McCallum's memo, will be read publicly at the next meeting of the Board, Messrs, Jardine, Matheson & Co.'s letter is, like their former one on the same subject, absurd and only shows their ignorance of their duties and responsibilities, 1st, Mr. Leigh and Dr. Hartigan should be requested to inspect again and report on the state of the premises and see if they are in a sanitary condition, and, Messrs. Jardine, Matheson & Co. should be informed that licenses to keep pigs will be issued to all proper applicants without consulting them in any way and that if they do not wish their tenants to keep pigs, it is for them so to arrange

A lengthy discussion followed, resulting in a decision to have the site referred to inspected by an officer of the Board before any further action

. THE MANAGEMENT OF THE TUNG WAH

HOSPITAL. Attached to a number of papers bearing on the management of the Tung Wah Hospital, which were tabled, were attached the following minutes :---Dr. Hartigan-The Board should press this matter on the Government. We must know the number of cases admitted, what localities they came from, the nature of the fever (malarial or typhoid) before we can take steps to eradicate it. The Board in 1801 was evidently of the same opinion Mr. J. J. Francis-There is only one thing to be done. The Tung Wah must be closed as a hospital or the Chinese must be compelled to put into it a properly qualified medical staff. There are no other possible means of getting done what has to be done. The Captain Supt. of Police—The committee that reported on this matter in August recommended that the reports of deaths in the Tung Wah should be accompanied by proper medical certificates. On the 30th August the Board resolved that a strong recommendation be made to Government to adopt the above suggestion. The Board should now point out that the steps that have been taken to secure the object in view are not adequate.

The Colonial Surgeon protested against the hespital being placed under the sole control of Europeans: it would result in a "miserable mess " and natives would die in all sorts of places rather than come to the Tung Wah to beg out.

There was a good deal of discussion and it was ultimately agreed, on the motion of the Chairman, "that this Board is of opinion the work entailed by supervising the Tung Wah Hospital with a view to obtaining correct statistics is so heavy that Dr. Ayres ought to have more assistance in the work and that the committee lof the Tung Wah Hospital should contribute to the cost of any additional officer that may be

REMARKABLE VOYAGE FROM HAMBURG TO SHANGHAL

HOW THE "GUY MANNERING!" DODGED

Through the courtesy of a scalaring friend we are in a position to throw some light upon the Interesting subject of how upwards of too,000 stand of rifles and millions of rounds of ammunition, despite the stringent neutrality regulations enforced since the commencement of the China-Japan war, have found their way from continental ports to the "Gorgeous East," A Lordon paper secently stated that arms and ammunition were being shipped from Continental ports to China "In a roundabout way in order to avoid detection," and as an explanation suggested that munitions of war were transhipped in mid ocean after having been passed at various Custom Houses, That may have been the way in which several "tramps" got their valuable cargoes of munitions of war delivered in Janus since the outbreak of the present war, but it was certainly not the manner in which the British four-masted steamer which recently discharged unwards of £700,000 worth of munitious of war at Woosung, shipped her carrie as will be seen by the following most interesting report of her voyage from Hamburg to Woosung, vid Canton, courteously supplie to us by "Ore Who Knows," clearly shows.

The British steamer Guy Mannering, 2482 tons, which arrived at Hongkong on New Year's Day from Chlekiang, left Hamburgion the 30th Seriember with a full cargo of munitions of war consigned to the Chinese Government. She left nort with 'sealed orders,' and as soon and the coast was lost sight of Captain Walker found that he had to proceed to Whampon, and after passing through the Suez Canal must avoid being correctly made outfor 'spoken' either by lighthouse signalmen or passing vessels, and he was, of course, particularly enjoined to avoid contact with Japanese cruisers. Thus instructed and with enough coal on braid to carry him from Hamburg to Tientsin, Caprain Walker made the best of his way to Post Said, where he arrived on the 20th October, and stopped to whip an electric light plant. He then passed through the Suez Canal and took his departure from Suez at 9, 30 p.m. on the 21st of the same month. The Red Sex safely regotlated and the Indian Ocean reached, the deck!" hands " were set to work to paint the bull of their ship as white as, the driven snow to avoid detection she being pretty well known in Eastern seas, and to further mislead the Japs should they have been appried of her departure from Suez, Captain Walker elected to run through the Straits of Sunds Instead of following the more direct route to the Far Orlent through the Malacca Straits and thus avoid being reported from Singapore All went well, and the speed of the ship was so regulated as to enable the Captain to negotiate the Strates of Sunda during the still watches of the night as diget clear of the misny dangers in those narrow waters by daybreak on the 15th November. In the same manner Gaspi-Straits were cautiously navigated, and still not a Jap knew wherethe Guy Mannering was, and probable the Mikado's advisers hoped she was at the bottom of the deep blue sea. TO WALK WITH EASE AND GRACE.

One of the most graceful women said the other day, when asked for her secret :- "I have no secret. When I was a child my mother impressed on me most firmly that I was always to turn my toes out. This keeps the knees straight, so that all the movement comes from the hips I keep my chrst and chin well up and make it a rule never to hurry, though, as I never mince my steps, I get over the ground more rapidly. perhaps, than those who seem to walk faster." In learning to walk it is best to begin, as Guy Mannering, Captain Thomas Walker. Herbert Spencer says about style, with a knowledge of what constitutes a beauty and what a blemish. A good walk is, however, about as > are well to remember. "Don't, for instance, look, at your feet when walking, but hold your head well up in the air. "Don't shuffle your feet. A little thoughtfulness and a little practice in high stepping will soon delusive and hard to define as a good style. Still, there are some very imperative 'don'ts' that break up this ugly habit. "Don't bend back at the walst under the impression that you are thereby walking erectly. It throws the stomach forward, and is almost as inimical to grace as round shoulders.

Finally, don't allow yourself to walk | pigeontoed," that is, with the toes turned in or straight. You can never be graceful in movement while you do".—Boston Yournal.

THE HISTORY OF A SCAR.

On the back of my right hand—just about the middle of it—there is a small scar, half as big as a threepenny piece, perhaps. You would never notice state f with fre in s of the deepest regret, that | have to look sharp to see it. But it's there, all the the ships pussy-cat and, if we are correctly same, and will be until the hand is returned to dust. It dates back forty years, that year does. Going cocks, aches passed away quietly during this home from school one day another boy and I quarelled and fought. Strange to say, it wasn't about a girl either. Anyway, he drew his jack-knife and stabbed me in the back of the right hand. The wound, I remember, was slow to heal. It was sore and inflamed for months, and hardly a day but something hit it, or I knocked it against something, and so made it worse. My whole available body appeared to be concentrated in that sore. You know how such things are. They are like boils, and if there is any comfortable spot to have a boil there are leads of money waiting for the fellow who discovers it. Lately we have received two letters, both containing an identical expression, namely, this : " Everything seemed a trouble to me." Now, none of us are so tough as to be proof against trouble, but when altimo, the Straits Maritime Fournal, after everything is a trouble to a man the very heart inside knows, it is so often enough. Grief will do it, worry

One of these letters, or at least the writer of it, Before that I had always been strong and active.

Now I was low-spirited and melancholy; everything segmed a trouble to me. At first I had a bad taste in the mouth, a poor appetite, and all I ate gave me great pain in the obest and sides. Even fish and Even amongst the ancients the benefit a lising poultry gave me as much distress as more solld food.

"In the middle of April; 1888, I read that cases like mine had been cured by Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup, and I thought I would try it. I hadn't taken more than half a bottle when I felt relieved. This encouraged me to keep on with the Syrup, and in a comparatively short time all symptoms of the disease left me. Since then I have enjoyed excellent health, and whenever I feel a twinge of my old enemy a dose or two of 'Mother Seigel' soon sets me right. Yours truly, (Signed) M. LHAHY, 49, Grosvenor Terrace, Grosvenor Park, Camberwell, London, September,

So much for the facts as Mr. Leaby felt them. What has science to offer in explanation of them! This. Gout, rhoumatism, and biliousness are three complaints arising indirectly from an overworked liver, or, more properly from indigestion and dyspepsis. The poisons so engendered may lie hidden and unfelt for a long time, and then be suddenly rendered active by mental worry, exposure, over eating, wrong eating, or any of a dozen other causes. The kidneys fall (following the stomach and liver), the add poison remains in the blood and sets up inflammation in the joints, and the retained fluids produce dropsy. All sorts of disturbances are apt to go with this condition of things, every one less a disease in itself than a symptom of the one cause - indigestion and dyspepsis. The heart and lungs are often attacked in sympathy. Ours the torpid digestion, and an all-round improvement at once succeeds. To do this is in the power of Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup—se, perhaps, in the power of nothing else.

It was most unfortunate that this gentleman suffered his mind was sensitive as his body to every approach. Knowing what he now knows he feels safe. There is no durkness but ignorance, and the German Nurse shows "The Way Out."
